GUARD UNIT OPENS DRIVE

Company C Joins U. S. Campaign To Add New Members.

A nationwide recruiting drive to increase the strength of the National Guard opened today, with Capt. Robert Melby, commanding officer of Co. C, 166th Infantry, O.N.G., in charge of the local program.

In a proclamation issued recently by President Truman, Sept. 16 was declared National Guard Day and designated as the opening time for the campaign. The date was chosen because it marks the seventh anniversary of the induction of the National Guard into federal service during the emergency immediately preceding World War II.

Want Younger Men

The recruit drive is aimed at a "man-a-minute" and recruiting officers are instructed to seek the enlistment of the younger men.

Capt. Melby reported that the present strength of the local company is 41 and the unit is now authorized to have an enlistment strength of 188 guardsmen.

As an incentive for the campaign, contests will be held locally and special recognition will be accorded to enlisted men who make the best showing in the campaign. Rules will be formulated in each state. On Nov. 28, winners will visit President Truman to receive his personal congratulations and to attend a luncheon given in their honor by the Secretary of War and Chief of Staff. On Nov. 29, they will be guests for the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia.

Awards for Winners

Certificates of commendation will be awarded to the 51 winners, chosen from the states and territories, to the three runners-up of each state and territory, to the best company-size unit of each, and to every unit which achieves full authorized strength during the drive.

Ohio National Guard now has an authorized strength of 27,171 men. Current strength up to and including July 31, is 3,817. Ohio objective during the campaign is the enlistment of 3,570 men.

TEAMSTERS DEMAND NLRB REVERSE SELF

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—The AFL teamsters union today demanded the national labor relations board reverse a ruling by its own general counsel on the scope of the controversial non-Communist section of the Taft-Hartley act.

Daniel J. Tobin, president of the teamsters, announced that he has signed the required non-Communist affidavit and now contends his union is legally eligible to use services of the board despite a contrary opinion by Robert L. Denham, the board's general counsel.

Denham has held that AFL unions cannot qualify until all members of the general executive council have furnished affidavits. John L. Lewis, a member of the council, has blocked such a mass filing.

Tobin argued that his union is completely autonomous despite its AFL affiliation. He said Joseph A. Padway, teamsters union attorney, would take the case to the board today.

Revolution Hint Disturbs Italy

Metal Workers Strike Brings Talk of Coup d'Etat Into Open.

By The United Press

ROME, Sept. 16—A strike by 850,000 Italian metal workers brought open talk of revolutionary activity for the first time today, but leftist leaders disclaimed any intention of trying to seize power by force.

The Catholic news agency ARI said reports of expected "insurrectional movements throughout Italy" next Saturday during leftist-sponsored protests against the government had been "exhaustively commented upon in responsible political circles."

The strike of the metal workers was called for two days as a protest against the high cost of living. It also demonstrated Communism's grip on Italian labor.

Police Maneuver

Some 1,000 Roman police went on "maneuvers" and will go through exercises south of Rome through tomorrow. Police headquarters said the drills were intended to "determine the state of preparation of the police."

Communist, Socialist and Labor federation spokesmen agreed in the flat assertion that there would be no revolution. However, the leftists had been toying with veiled hints of using force against the government for more than a week.

A strike of 1,000,000 farm workers was in its eighth day when the metal workers walked out, despite all government attempts to dissuade them. Although the metal workers' strike was supposed to last only two days, it will do nothing to reduce prices and will strike a heavy blow at the government's reconstruction program.

Reds Call Strike

The General Confederation of Labor, which is run by the Communists, called both the farm workers' and metal workers' strikes.

The Communist controlled General Confederation of Labor also threatened to call a strike of 2,130,000 tobacco, railroad, textiles and state workers. Government officials said the strikes and threats of strikes were being used by Communist Leader Palmiro Togliatti to force the fall of Premier Alcide de Gasperi's cabinet.

De Gasperi put the Communists out of his cabinet three-and-a-half months ago, because no agreement could be had as long as they were in it. Togliatti, who spent 19 years in Moscow, has been clamoring to get his party back in, but his talk has not produced any results.

The metal workers, whom the government vainly tried to keep at work, said their strike would be for only two days. But it will strike a sore blow at Italian industry, particularly in Milan and Turin. Their complaint was the high cost of living.

The farm workers strike, now in its eighth day, was more serious. Italy's 500,000-ton rice crop is ready to be harvested and unless it is soon brought in, it may be severely damaged.

U.S. LAUNCHES VARIED DRIVES AGAINST PRICES

Campaigns To Force Food Costs Down and Find More Supplies for Hungry.

By The United Press

The government launched multiple campaigns today to force grocery and meat prices down and find more food for a hungry world.

The problem was how to accomplish both. The supply of law and demand said price would rise as demand increased. And demand appeared certain to step up with the government and public competing for available supplies.

The government attack on prices branched out in all directions. These were the new points of attack:

►Attorney-General Tom Clark asked the people to report any price-fixing attempts to local district attorneys. He ordered his district attorneys to campaign against price agreements which keep the cost of living out of range.

►The commodities exchange authority launched a "pressure campaign" to cut down grain speculations. It asked the nation's big grain exchanges to double margins in grain transactions. Margins are the down payments.

►A congressional committee investigated high prices at Providence, R. I. It heard pleas for the return of price controls and an end to government support of farm prices.

►Clinton Anderson, secretary of agriculture, said the President's cabinet would meet Monday to discuss a price report and a report on the American export program.

Picture Is International

The price picture turned international in scope. It hinged around foreign policy and the feeding of people faced with starvation.

The agriculture department estimated that 40 per cent of the saleable wheat crop would be exported. The CEA was concerned with the diminishing buying power of foreign dollars in American markets.

That tied in with the wheat market. After skittering at the end of last week, the wheat market soared skyward again yesterday. It climbed to $2.81 a bushel.

And wheat tied in with the general food price picture which depended largely upon the grain market. The corn crop will be small this year. Without corn to feed to livestock, farmers may feed wheat, raising the price of that grain ever higher.

With the price of grain up, it was natural for prices of many food commodities to climb. If high-priced grain was fed to cattle and other livestock, meat on the hoof would climb. If livestock were brought to market thinner, meat would become scarcer. Prices would climb.

The same high grain prices would result in higher prices in butter, milk, eggs, bread and lard.

Buyer Resistance Grows

The campaign against buying high-priced foods continued to grow. Joseph Salerno, president of the Massachusetts state CIO, said unions could beat high food prices by buying groceries wholesale and selling it to members at cost.

In New York City, Mayor William P. O'Dwyer read a report from his special committee investigating the city's food costs, then proposed that the city return to its war-time policy of two meatless days weekly in public eating places. He suggested the

STOCK CO-OP MEETING HERE

New District To Be Formed by Producers Livestock Cooperative Association.

A meeting to organize Marion, Bucyrus, Mt. Vernon, Coshocton, and Cleveland markets of the Producers Livestock Cooperative association into a Northeast Ohio subdivision is being held here today in the Eagles building.

Robert Bradley, manager of the local market, said the reorganization was necessary because the association has been expanding since its formation about 25 years ago until now its delegates to yearly meetings in Columbus make too unwieldly a group to work with.

The association has markets all over Ohio, and several in Indiana.

Advisory committees of each of the five markets of the Northeast Ohio subdivision are attending the meeting today, which started at 9:45 a. m.

A chairman, vice chairman and secretary of the newly created Northeast Ohio subdivision will be elected today. Scheduled to address the day-long meeting are George Henning of the Ohio State university economics department, and F. G. Ketner of Columbus, secretary and manager of the Producers Livestock Cooperative association.

Advisory committee members for the Marion market are: Don Foos of Prospect, chairman; Forest Loudenslager of Marion, vice chairman; Oscar Murphy of Morral, Willard Davidson and Walter A. Mautz of Marion, Frank Heimlich of Cardington, Forest Cates of New Bloomington, and Beaver Bricker of Green Camp.

Eisenhower, Kenney Tell Vets Of Air Danger To World, U. S.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16—Mankind must decide whether air power "shall advance civilization or destroy it," thinks Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff.

"There is room in the world for all the men who inhabit it and its natural wealth is enough to sustain them," he told the first annual convention of the Air Force association last week.

"In the plane we have the means and the instrument by which we can open vast areas hitherto locked against men by nature; we have a carrier of goods for men that recognizes no barrier too wide or too high for its wealth-bearing mission."

Popular "Ike" Eisenhower, prominently mentioned for the Republican nomination for president in 1948, made no political statement in his convention address.

Before 1,200 cheering delegates General Eisenhower said the United States possessed a commanding lead in its ability to produce and perform but "for our own security we either maintain that position or we lapse into a

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16—Gen. George C. Kenney said today "potential enemies" of the United States have aircraft which can carry to this country "known weapons of mass destruction more deadly and far cheaper than the atomic bomb."

"If there is another war, the head of the strategic air command declared, "we will be lucky to have eight hours warning of a blitzkreig blow designed to knock us out in a few days."

In a speech prepared for the first national convention of the Air Force association, Kenney said:

"The rate of technical development of weapons of warfare is now so rapid and the effect of changes in technique so far reaching that it has become fatal to the national security to lag behind in development or in thought." And he added:

"Only if we maintain the technical lead in aviation can be have the number one air force. If we don't have the number one air force we might just as well have none."

Kenney said this country's com-

Florida's East Coast Warned To "Prepare for Hurricane"

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 16—The weather bureau at 11 a. m. advised the Florida east coast from Miami northward "make preliminary preparations for a hurricane."

Northeast storm warnings are displayed from Palm Beach to Cape Hatteras, and Chief Forecaster Grady Norton said the storm is stationary over the northern Bahamas and adjoining sea area. He said "the situation along the Florida coast is critical." Winds of 95 miles an hour were blowing at Abaco island, and Green Turtle Key was under two feet of water.

A special note of advice was voiced by Norton to the rich Everglades farming area around Lake Okeechobee, already partly flooded by heavy summer rains.

Disaster Recalled

Nineteen years ago today a major disaster occurred in this same section when a hurricane blew the water out of Lake Okeechobee, drowning about 1,500 persons.

Norton said at 11 a. m. that "no one can tell at this moment what the hurricane will do. It is wallowing around out there, growing in size, and could strike out in any direction when it begins to move again. It could as easily move toward land as away from land.

"If it moves toward land now, the time warning will be very short. Therefore, although actual hurricane warnings are not displayed, the Florida east coast would be prudent to make preliminary preparations for a hurricane.

May Move Away

"It is entirely possible that the storm will move away from land, in which case these preparatory measures will prove unnecessary. But prudence indicates the necessity of preliminary preparation."

Norton said the weather observation station on Green Turtle Key, in the Bahamas, had notified the storm warning center here that with two feet of water across the island "we are getting ready to evacuate this station."

Small craft in the Florida keys were advised to remain in safe harbors.

Want a Porcupine? Police Have One

Anybody need a strange animal?

Police Captain Mackan got stuck with one this morning after a telephone call reported that "a strange animal was cornered in the back yard at 421 Park street."

He and Joe Johnson, whose backyard was the scene of events, captured the animal with the help of a broom and a chow dog.

Now the broom has more bristles and the chow has a beard.

It was a porcupine.

Captain Mackan has it in a box at the police station and doesn't want it. It needles him.

How the porcupine got there and why is still a mystery.

CONVICT ENDS STAY ATOP WATERTOWER

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16—A convict, who had defiantly perched all night on a 125-foot watertower at Ohio penitentiary finally came down today when Warden F. D. Henderson told him newspaper photographers wanted to take his picture.

The prisoner, Milford D. Perry, 27, of Cincinnati descended at 9:30 a. m., posed briefly for the photographers, and then was hustled off to the prison hospital for observation.

The warden shouted his offer from the ground.

He was the second prisoner at the state penitentiary to break away from guards and clamber up to the catwalk. His 18 hours fell short of the 48-hour "record" set by the other convict.

Warden Henderson made no attempt to have Perry, serving a term for armed robbery, brought down forcibly.

Perry broke away from his company yesterday afternoon and sprinted to the water tower 12 to 15 feet away. He climbed up a steel ladder to the catwalk and guards said he made no move to climb down.

Prison guards were stationed around the tower throughout the night, Henderson said.

Massachusetts Senator Denies '48 Ambitions

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—An announcement by Senator Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts that he is aiming only at another term in the senate gave encouragement today to supporters of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for winning the 1948 G.O.P. presidential nomination.

Saltonstall, who is likely to be the "favorite son" candidate of his state's 35 delegates to the national convention, declared at a news conference that he is not in the running for the nomination.

GAS SERVICE EXTENSION CUT

Ohio Utilities Commission Orders Ban on New Installations Until March.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16—The public utilities commission put into effect today an order banning the extension of natural gas service in Ohio as an emergency measure to conserve fuel in event of a severe winter.

The order, effective at 12:01 a. m., was requested by natural gas companies because of a continued fuel shortage which caused sharp curtailment of service to consumers last winter. It expires at midnight March 31, 1948.

With certain exceptions, the commission banned the use of natural gas for heating purposes in new homes, stores or factories and prohibited conversions.

A hearing has been scheduled by the commission for Sept. 29 when interested parties may request modification.

The ruling provides gas companies may service buildings where contracts for gas heat already have been entered into, provided the builders are substantially in course of construction on Dec. 16.

The commission stipulated such contracts must be filed with the gas companies within the next 10 days.

The commission, which conducted a hearing last Saturday on the proposal to curtail gas service, found that "the unprecedented demand for gas and the inability of the utilities and their suppliers to provide facilities to make additional gas service available to consumers in the state of Ohio has created an emergency."

The emergency, the commission said, "arises in part from the inability of Ohio utilities having sources of supply outside the state of Ohio to secure full performance of contracts to deliver gas during the coming winter season 1947-48 from such sources."

Toledo Prices Fall Slightly As Drive Reports Success

By International News Service

TOLEDO, Sept. 15 — Toledo Housewives, Inc., reported today that the organizaton's chain telephone campaign to lower inflationary food prices already has brought results.

Mrs. L. J. Senn, president of the group, told a meeting last night, "butter has dropped to 85 cents a pound at one large chain store. Oleomargarine now is selling at 31 cents a pound.

"One large food store quoted the price of butter at 85 cents a pound, but the commodity hardly moved."

Milk dealers in the area have called the Housewives, Inc., asking that they halt their campaign to cut milk prices. The dealers have complained that the anti-inflationary price drive is hurting their business.

The telephone campaign spread to Defiance, where a housewife, Mrs. F. A. Jackson, started calling five women today. They in turn were to telephone five women, asking that they purchase only essential food items in an effort to force down prices.

DISPUTE MARS FIRST MEETING

Russia Invokes 19th and 20th Vetoes as Delegates Feel Split Must Be Healed.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 — The United Nations assembly today formally opened its critical 1947 session amid solemn warnings that the growing split between Russia and the western powers must be stopped at all costs.

The opening meeting, attended by many of the world's top diplomats including Secretary of State George C. Marshall, was convened at 10:09 a. m. by silver-haired Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil, holdover president of the special Palestine session.

The occasion was clouded by last night's angry dispute between Russia and the United States over the Balkan question and by Russia's 19th and 20th vetoes cast in the security council on the eve of the assembly's opening.

Organization at Stake

The sentiment of many delegates was expressed by Fadhil Jamali, foreign minister of Iraq, who said on his arrival:

"I hope the United Nations will be victorious in this crucial meeting. If bad decisions are taken it may mean the defeat of the United Nations."

Aranha, in opening the session, warned that the world will "organize peace or hasten war" at UN council tables and said "the next 10 years may be envisaged as a period of doubts and insecurity."

"Our task," he declared, "narrows down to the question of whether the road will lead to peace or to strife."

Aranha named a special committee to examine the credentials and the delegates and adjourned the brief initial meeting at 10:43 a. m. The assembly was scheduled to meet again at 1:30 p. m.

The 55-nation assembly, sometimes called the "town meeting of the world," was summoned to open its second annual session in a flag-bordered hall at Flushing Meadows at 10 a. m. The first organizational task was election of a president. Most prominently mentioned for the post were Premier Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium and Foreign Minister Herbert V. Evatt of Australia.

Top Leaders Present

Some of the world's best known leaders, including Secretary of State George C. Marshall and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, were on hand for debates which may mark a critical point in the world's quest for organized peace.

Others, notably Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of Russia, were absent at the outset but possibly may show up later. Molotov was believed holding himself in readiness for a dramatic flight here if that turned out to be a smart maneuver for Russia.

Bevin was believed to be staying in London primarily because of prospective developments in European economic recovery under the Marshall plan. His absence thus emphasized the point authorities here make that the United Nations is only partly concerned with the issues now carrying the fate of the world.

The dispute which overshadowed the opening formalities of the assembly, was churned up in a 5½ hour meeting of the UN security council last night when the United States sought, over strenuous Soviet objection, to break the Greek case out of the council so the assembly could have a try at solving it.

The Russian vetoes forced the United States to give up its plan to have the council continue its watchdog commission in Greece temporarily. But by paying that price, the United States, backed by a 9 to 2 majority, got the case out of the council entirely.

Clears Way for Debate

The partial American victory cleared the way for the assembly not only to discuss the Greek-Balkans situation, which it could have done in any case, but also to make recommendations for its solution. Such recommendations would have been out of order if the case had remained before the security council.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet member of the council, asserted at one point that the United States had maneuvered deliberately to provoke the Soviet vetoes. American member Herschel V. Johnson, with the certain support of a council majority, hotly told Gromyko that "no power on earth" could keep the Greek case out of the assembly.

The Soviet union was reported prepared to make another pass at

Freedom Train Carrying Cargo Of Priceless Documents Starts

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16—A red, white and blue train loaded with a priceless cargo of this country's most important historical documents will roll out of here this week bound for all America.

The seven-car Freedom Train, emblazoned with the golden American eagle, is scheduled for a year-long, 33,000-mile pilgrimage so Americans can see how America was conceived.

Philadelphians will be the first to view the train and its exhibit tomorrow, the 160th anniversary of the signing of the United States constitution in this Quaker city.

From then on until Sept. 20, when the Freedom Train pulls out for all points east, west, north and south, Philadelphians will file through the exhibit cars.

100 Documents Shown

Behind steel and plastic glass and guarded day and night by U. S. Marines are more than 100 documents borrowed from libraries and museums for the journey.

Americans will see a copy of Columbus' first printed letter on the discovery of America; a late thirteenth century manuscript copy of the Magna Carta; the original of the Pennsylvania charter of privileges of 1701, signed by William Penn; Thomas Jefferson's rough draft of the Declaration of Independence, with suggestions by Benjamin Franklin and John Adams; the official original manuscript of the bill of rights, and on down to the United Nations charter.

They will hear "The Freedom Train" song, written by tunesmith Irving Berlin over a weekend.

It is a song that Berlin had been "thinking about all during the war," and when he got down to the business of turning it out "it simply wrote itself."

Clark Started Train

Attorney General Tom C. Clark is credited for starting the Freedom Train.

Disturbed by the increase of juvenile delinquency and by the general disregard of this country's investment in liberty and freedom, Clark called a conference in Washington to discuss the problem.

Out of that meeting came the American Heritage foundation, headed by Winthrop W. Aldrich, board chairman of the Chase National Bank of New York.

Non-political, non-partisan and non-profit, the foundation includes President Thomas D'Arcy Brophy and businessmen, labor leaders, professional men and representatives of all walks of life who have dedicated themselves to underwrite this national shrine on wheels.

Aldrich said "this will be the first time that a collection of such magnitude, containing the basic landmarks in the development of our American history, has ever been brought to every section of the land."

The Pennsylvania railroad donated the cars and stripped down three all-steel passenger coaches to carry the documents. Windows were sealed with steel plates inside and out and steel floors and ceilings were doubled. Special vaults were installed.

Diesel Engine Built

The American Locomotive and General Electric Companies built a streamlined diesel-electric engine named "The Spirit of '76" to power the train. Painters striped the locomotive and cars with red, white and blue and emblazoned "Freedom Train" in bold letters over the length of both sides. Other railroads will contribute their share in maintenance and operation.

As the train rolls from city to city and state to state, week-long programs rededicating Americans to freedom are planned. The foundation says "each rededication week can become a week's 'revival meeting' for American democracy."

Principal speakers at the dedication ceremony tomorrow will be Owen J. Roberts, former supreme court justice; Attorney General Clark, and U. S. Senator Edward Martin, of Pennsylvania.

Mayors in more than 300 cities where the train will stop were asked by the foundation to appoint committees for similar rededication celebrations. The municipal government, every type of organization and every medium of communication will be given a part to play.

On Sept. 20 the Freedom Train will leave for Atlantic City, Trenton, Elizabeth and Paterson, N. J., arriving in New York City on Sept. 25, bill of rights day.

The New England states will be next on the travelogue and by Thanksgiving the train will be in Washington.

Give Million for China Slogan of Church Drive

"Give a million for China," the slogan adopted by members of the Marion Seventh-day Adventist church Sabbath school, is expected to spur individual giving to help re-build China's broken-down churches, hospitals and schools. Sabbath schools around the world, according to Mrs. L. B. Hill, superintendent, are uniting in an "overflow" offering for China on September 27. A million dollars under the present inflation in China can be had for $166.67 (U. S.).

China's leading Adventist hospitals, looted during the war, are now operating, partially restored but in need of much additional repair and equipment, a recent survey reported here reveals.

Free Enterprise System Called Best Check Against Depression

By The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 16—Jerome M. Ney of Fort Smith, Ark., president of the board of the American Retail Federation, said today free enterprise offered checks against depressions which were impossible in a state-planned economy.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Swedish Retail Federation, Ney said the competitive system of free enterprise had been severely attacked in recent years on the grounds that such a system caused depressions. He said:

"The implication of the argument that depressions are inherent in capitalism and confined exclusively to it. That, I deny, most emphatically."

Result of Mistakes"

"Depressions are the results of mistakes in a free society, depressions are the result of the cumulative mistakes of millions of people exercising their right to buy or not to buy or sell.

"The complex economic civilization as this of the 20th century miscalculations of the state can result in great hardship. And the greater the power of the state, the greater the consequences of error. The terrible famines in Russia in 1930-31 and 1934 are cases in point. They do not demonstrate the efficacy of government planning and government control.

"When a government, engaged in large- scale, over-all planning, makes an error, it affects everyone. There is no withdrawal from it. But when individuals make mistakes, perhaps they cancel out. One man's shortcomings may be overcome by another man's foresight.

"A free society offers the check and counter-check of competition and individual judgment. x x x"

Declaring that America's greatest resources was its economic system and its people, Ney said there were more than 3,500,000 individual business enterprises in the United States and 6,000,000 farm enterprises.

"This means," he continued, "that we have about 10,000,000 heads of businesses making decisions x x. They cannot and would not go to an almighty state. They think and act for themselves. They are not yes-men. They are in a constant competitive struggle to survive. This struggle develops a rigorous, vigorous type of man."

Notes Exceptions

Pointing out that he was a member of the U. S. office of price administration during the war, Ney said:

"We recognize, as you do, that in periods of great emergency when there is a shortage of foods in the face of pent-up demand and high purchasing power some measures to protect the economy from inflation are required. The important thing is the angle of approach. There is always a danger that the existence of controls may be used as an excuse for their perpetuation."

Ney said he was "convinced that free enterprise in a capitalistic democracy best serves the interests of a nation's people and promotes world harmony." Without it, he declared "our living standards, perhaps even our Christian civilization, may be destined to destruction."

From Vacation To Job Is Sad Trip for Boyle

Hal Boyle, the "poor man's philosopher," returned to his typewriter today after a seashore vacation.

Associated Press Writer
By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—Every time I go on a vacation I swear I will never come back and resume this mental straightjacket called civilized life.

For if there is anything worse than having no vacation at all it is going back to work at the end of a vacation.

Some people aren't that way. When vacation is over they go bouncing merrily back to their daily labor like a madman on a pogo stick. This year I was lucky. I didn't meet a single fugitive from duty who ruined the holiday spirit by chanting:

Hal Boyle

"I can't wait until I get back to my desk."

The only reason I ever want to go back to my desk is to be sure somebody else hasn't been hired to put his feet there where mine belong.

Explains Idea of Holiday

My idea of a vacation is to wait until after Labor day, then go to a beach, lie down and cease from effort so utterly that I would die rather than blow up a pair of waterways to save me from a sudden surge of surf.

That's what I did. The reason for waiting until September is that, contrary to popular belief, the ocean is warmer then. And there is more sand on the beach than people. Try it some time. In July and August you don't lie in sand—you lie in ice cream cone drippings, cigaret stubs and beer bottles.

I found a nice beach on Montauk Point which is as far east as you can go from Broadway without swimming into a British accent.

There I laid me down in the sun and left instructions to be turned over every half hour until the vacation was over.

When I got restless, I just opened one eye and counted fat ladies on the beach until I fell asleep again. I never had to count more than a round dozen.

Discovers Sand Dabs

Looking from a slight dune down on that wet-washed stretch of shining beach that lies barely within the recurrent clutch of the sea's foamy fingers I discovered a strange tribe of twitchy little crustaceans which the natives call "sand dabs."

They looked to me like tiny white crawdads except that they flopped and leaped about aimlessly like Mexican jumping beans. When a rivulet of water ran over them, they would bore their heads into the wet sand and disappear, then come hopping out again like fleas on a hot frying pan.

I couldn't see why they were so excited. Whenever the wind blew a discarded newspaper along the beach I would reach out, grab it and read out loud to the "sand dabs" about high food prices in America, Moscow appeals for more work from the comrades, and religious massacres among the Moslems and Sikhs in India.

Parrot Had Philosophy

But the little "sand dabs" paid no attention. They kept hopping and digging their heads into the beach, intent on their own small destiny—which I assume was to grow up and be eaten by the bigger creatures of the sea.

They could not realize how we are all fools of fate in our separate ways. But one of man's feathered friends once expressed that sentiment perfectly. This famous bird was a parrot, a mascot aboard the vessel Elsie Fay. In 1890 the Elsie Fay crashed into the Montauk rocks and sailors aboard heard above the roaring waters and splitting timbers the voice of the parrot croaking philosophically:

"We'll all go to hell together, boys!"

Sure enough, the parrot was washed ashore the next day frozen stiff as a hotel mattress.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Child's First Teeth

Many parents believe that neglect of the child's first teeth does not matter because he is going to lose them anyway. There was never a more mistaken idea.

In the first place, early care of teeth defects is the best possible insurance against the occurrence of serious trouble later. In the second, too early loss of the first teeth may cause the permanent set to come in crooked. Furthermore, infections in any of the child's teeth may become a source of danger to his general health

For these reasons parents should make a real effort to prevent tooth decay in their children. If it occurs in spite of precautions, the child should be taken to the dentist at once.

In preventing decay, among other things, it is important to teach the child proper tooth-brush habits, since clean teeth decay less easily. A well-balanced diet is also a cardinal factor, as important to the condition of the teeth as to all other parts of the body.

Even when one of the first teeth decay, prompt and proper treatment will usually keep it alive. First of all, the dentist will take an X-ray of the tooth. This is done to determine the extent of the tooth decay and to show whether or not it is possible to save the tooth.

If there is toothache, the dentist determines whether or not the pain occurs at night or when the child is lying down or whether it is present for just a few seconds after eating and whether hot or cold food or drinks, or cold weather causes pain.

The outlook for saving the tooth is bad if the tooth hurts at night when the child is lying down, if hot or cold drinks cause pain, or if the tooth is sore when pressure is applied, for that means destruction is far advanced.

The outlook for saving the tooth is good if pain occurs only for a few seconds after eating, if hot and cold air causes pain, or if the tooth is not sore to pressure.

If it is difficult to determine whether or not the tooth can be saved, what is known as a vitality test may be helpful. This test is carried out by means of an electrical current in some cases.

If it is thought that the tooth can be saved, the soft decayed material under the enamel should be removed. The cavity is dried with warm water and a solution of ammoniacal silver nitrate is applied. This is left in contact for at least a minute, and then a substance known as eugenol is used. Then the cavity is filled.

If the decay has penetrated more deeply, and it is not certain that the tooth can be saved, the treatment is carried out in the same way and a temporary filling is put into the cavity for several months. Then, if X-rays and vitality tests later show a reasonable chance for saving the tooth, the permanent filling may be put in.

Parents owe it to the child to do everything possible to keep his teeth strong and save them from decay.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

F.S.: I would appreciate it greatly if you would inform me how to get over nervousness. I find it very difficult to go on with my work.

Answer: Nervousness is an indefinite term. It may refer to irritability, lack of control of the emotions, or to a feeling of anxiety and fear. The best thing for you to do is to have a study made by a specialist in diseases of the nervous system to determine just what disorder is present.

Abuse of Veto Power, UN Faces Most Dangerous Issue

lar tactics in Allied councils in Europe. The result is that peace and economic recovery have been stymied—and it's significant that turmoil and hard times provide the soil in which Communism thrives.

Could Dominate Others

A recent report turned out by American congressional and state department cooperation, for use of congressional committees in Europe, says the Russians are the "principal obstructionists" in the Allied control council in Berlin. The report states that eastern Germany (under Russian occupation) is "well on the way to being Sovietized," and says the "suspicion is now possible that the U.S.S.R. covets Austria, in order to isolate Czechoslovakia, and penetrate Italy and Germany, as well as other parts of western Europe, with Communist politics and economics," given a little more hunger, declared the statement, the communists could dominate France, Italy and Greece.

So we see that the consistent use of the veto power by Russia in the UN, fits in with a broad strategy of obstruction which is favorable to the world revolution that is now in full swing. Meantime the Soviet delegation has been able to use the UN as a sounding board for dissemination of communistic ideas.

However, the Russians lately have been swinging into the defensive in contrast to the offensive which they were maintaining a year ago. The other members of the UN—apart from the Soviet satellites—are determined to have a workable peace organization even if they have to scrap the present structure and reform it along lines which will eliminate the present difficulties.

Don't Want To Remodel

The hope, of course, is to get reform without remodeling the UN but it will take a big inspiration to evolve an idea that will work. A year ago British Foreign Minister Bevin proposed at a meeting of the Big Five foreign ministers that a "code of conduct" be adopted in connection with use of the veto. But Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov vetoed this. Since then there has been eager search for a way to alter the UN charter so to preclude abuse of the veto, but the charter can't be changed in face of a Russian veto.

Argentina and Australia are scheduled to lead the battle in the assembly to control the veto, but unless they have a surprise up their sleeves they won't get far by ordinary methods. One wonders whether Argentina has something else in mind, for she wants a special meeting of the members after the assembly to take action.

Apropos of this there are close observers who believe that Russia would alter her tactics if the other members of the UN decided to go their way without the Soviet Union. That would be an extreme measure which neither Russia nor any other nation would want to see, and certainly further consideration will be given to other methods, including the focusing of world attention on the disaster which could grow out of a continuation of the Soviet tactics.

GI MISTREATMENT TRIAL STRIKES SNAG

By The Associated Press

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 16—An Army colonel and a Marine sergeant testified for the defense yesterday at the court martial of Lt. (JG) Richard F. Gascoigne, which was slowed by bitter legal arguments.

Gascoigne is charged with mistreating fellow inmates in a Japanese prison camp.

Much of the testimony of Lt. Col. Robert W. Schott of San Francisco was ruled out by prosecution objections. He testified that he had known Gascoigne while both were interned at the prison camp. He said he was medical officer there and later in charge of Americans at the camp.

Tech. Sgt. Frank R. Forsythe of Albany, N. Y., told of two incidents, both involving the alleged beatings of two men by Gascoigne.

Forsythe said one of the men told him "I got what was coming to me." The witness said the other man was beaten for stealing a pair of Gascoigne's shoes, but apparently seemed "none the worse" after his beating.

Last of Coyote Pair Shot Here

Efforts of Marion county farmers to kill a female coyote were finally successful last week. O. H. Neimeyer, county game protector, reports.

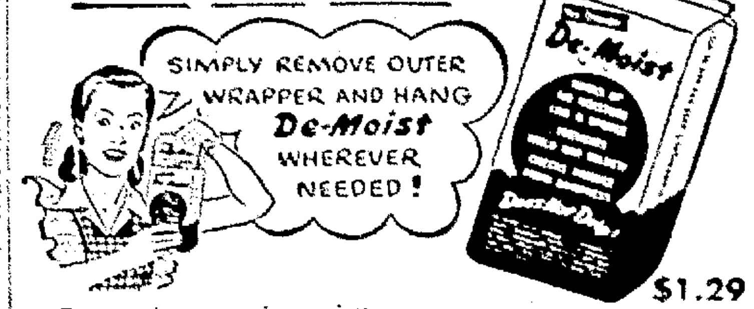

The animal was shot Saturday by H. A. Mounts, a farmer who lives east of Prospect. A male was trapped about two years ago and since then an attempt has been in progress to exterminate the female.

The coyote was believed to be responsible for looting chicken houses and killing lambs and young pigs. Farmers saw her on several occasions during the past two years, but Mr. Mounts was the first to get close enough to shoot. Neimeyer said that he found evidence that she did a lot of damage to game last winter.

The coyote weighed 30 pounds.

Absentee Buyers

THE phrase "buyers strike" should be avoided in describing efforts to do something about prices beyond consumers' ability to pay.

It isn't a strike when consumers adjust demand to the available supply. It isn't a strike when they make their buying stay inside their pocketbooks. It's discipline.

Unfortunately, there is no likelihood that consumers will discipline themselves in any important degree. Business enterprise has nothing to fear from absentee buyers, until enough of them have been driven out of the market by soaring prices to cause a depression—and when that happens it will not be buyers but sellers who will have to explain what happened.

The important function of "buyers' strikes" that aren't strikes at all, is to warn businessmen. The "strikes" accomplish nothing in themselves, but they are an infallible. Signal that the price squeeze has become unbearable in another segment of the consuming public. Businessmen noting "buyers' strikes" will know that they are about to lose consumers at an accelerating rate—not because consumers have gone on strike but because they are about to run out of buying power.

Edict from King John

JOHN LEWIS, an old hand at ignoring federal labor boards, has slapped a one-man veto on the plans of AFL to deal with NLRB. This might be fatal to NLRB.

But it might be fatal to Kong John, too, because of lot of mularkey has gone over the dam since labor leaders could boast with reason that they were bigger than the U. S. government.

To get down to cases, King John's refusal to let 105 AFL unions representing a claimed membership of 7,500,000 workers certify that their leadership is free from Communist taint is insolent abuse of veto power, more like the kremlin than the United States. Other members of the 15-member AFL executive council were reported to be in opposition to Lewis.

It means fresh wonderment for millions of unionists and their friends about the inside operations of the organized labor movement, with particular reference to the despotic power of a handful of union executives. It suggests that the Taft-Hartley act, designed to clip their wings, is being ranted against and boycotted by them because it's hitting them where it hurts.

Senator Taft, incidentally, says he welcomes a chance to make an issue of the Taft-Hartley act, which should give King John a rough idea about one first-rate politician's appraisal of the union executives' position.

Remembering the Past

THE wreck of the old '97 is to be commemorated by a plaque on the outskirts of Danville, Va., where Southern Railway's last mail went off a trestle into a ravine 44 years ago. A main highway, but no railroad, now runs by the spot where Casey Jones began his journey to the railroaders' Valhalla.

It is fitting that America preserve the memory of colorful characters and incidents of its past. Annie Oakley is another whose memory is soon to be honored. A plaque is to be placed on her hitherto unmarked grave at Brock, Okla.

America's history is rich with persons and stories that have become semi-legendary as time's penumbra obscured reality. There were the California and Alaska gold rushes; the race for land in the Oklahoma territory; bare-knuckle boxing matches in Nevada mining towns and on barges in the Mississippi; races between sidewheel riverboats for tremendous side bets, with engineers using the furinture to stoke furnaces for that extra pound of steam; tales of courage and hardship in the overland trips to the Oregon country.

There were Johnny Appleseed, Stephen Collins Foster, Bat Masterson, iKt Carson, Petroleum V. Nasby, Bill Nye, Buffalo Bill, Nathan Bedford Forrest and scores of others. Some were good and some were bad and many were quite different from the manner in which they were depicted in the legends which have grown up about them.

It is fitting that they be remembered as symbols of a vigorous, gutsy age when America was a young nation just beginning to feel its oats

Support the Guard

TODAY the nation observes National Guard day with the opening of a two-month campaign for 88,888 new members. The state goal is 5,900.

The National Guard is the nation's second line of defense, the first being the regular Army and Navy. Man trained in the guard served the nation well in World War II. Today the guard is in process of reorganization to produce men trained in the technical skills required of atomic-age soldiers.

With regular Army enlistments below expectations, the advantages of guard service should be brought to the attention of all eligible young men The campaign for a national membership of 632,000 deserves the support of every citizen, especially those opposed to universal military training, for a strong guard will help provide the trained civilian reserve the nation must have by one means or another.

How Urgent Is the Need

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Politics Taint Washington Views on European Help.

THERE are in Washington at the moment some hundreds of foreign statisticians and economic experts, who are on a U. S. government expense account. In the main, their practical discussions are connected with the Marshall Plan and the needs of Europe.

Various sessions to discuss scientific techniques are held, but these visitors are busy as bees visiting the many American officeholders whose professional interests are similar to theirs. Although these lesser lights of officialdom are at what is called in Washington parlance the subpolicy-making level, in fact the cross fertilization which ensues is extremely important in creating policy. For many of the lesser American officials involved are holdovers from the New Deal.

A mighty business of mutual back-scratching goes on between these American and European statistical brethren. Many foreigners are saying generally at office calls and social gatherings that congress never should have removed price control and that it should be restored. This greatly pleases those who fought for the controls in Washington last year. In return, the American boys put new batteries in their earphones when Europeans tell about their needs

All these capers seem to be lost on Washington reporters, who are busy following Senator Taft's trail to the west or President Truman's vacation. But future policies are being made by the rank and file of officialdom in the humid air of Washington.

Little Fellows Powerful

In the Roosevelt days, great power was exercised by lesser officials in Washington, most of whom were zealous New Dealers. The past two years have seen many of them leave But many others are there, biding their time for the second coming of the redemption. They are not happy with Truman and they deplore Truman's middle-of-the-road advisors. But they do believe in a return of greater regimentation and, at the moment, a good number view the inflationary trend with almost eager expectation.

No one wishes to minimize Europe's difficulties, but the facts warrant an extremely critical appraisal of European claims and of American capacity to meet them. The most reliable ascertainable figures seem to be that the best we can do this year in exporting grain will be 450,000,000 bushels. Of this, 350,000,000 can go to Europe Some meat and fats will go, but since we have a serious meat shortage, the total value of food to be exported will not substantially exceed $1,500,000,000 in the next year. Last year, the figure was less, but prices were lower.

Some Can Pay

Not all this food will be exported on credit, since such countries as Switzerland, Belgium and Sweden can pay. France can pay something. Hence, the largest out-of-pocket outlay by our government for food should not be over $800,000,000-$900,000,000. Moreover, a considerable amount of this credit will not be needed until next year Although western European crops are none too good, they will hold the line for five months.

In the light of this, the propaganda we are hearing about the danger of immediate collapse unless we guarantee a sum of something like $5,000,000,000 annually is exaggerated. The figures for required food, at least, simply do not prove the urgency of the demand. The final figure probably will be between $2,000,000,000 and $3,000,000,000.

Extravagant figures have a serious effect on the market. The grain market is governed by psychological, as well as material matters. The holder of grain can hardly be blamed for holding what he has when he reads some of the statements emanating from Washington. Never was there so urgent a need for a sane, cautious and non-political report of the facts.

Just a Minute

By JACK TARVER

And Where She Stops Nobody Knows . . . .

With prices continuing to rise, AFL leaders warn of another round of wage increase demands.

Strange, with all the amazing new specifics that science has discovered, that we still cling to the same old economic prescription, ie . . . . the hair of the dog that bit you.

Still, with prices and wages chasing each other at such a dizzying pace, it's a wise economist these days who is able to tell where one spiral leaves off and another begins.

In fact, here and there across the nation a puzzled voice speaks up to inquire if maybe, in the confusion of the last congressional session, someone didn't slip through a bill repealing the law of supply and demand.

More and more there are indications that Chester Bowles may have been a major prophet after all.

Meanwhile, as the organized cry goes up, "Set 'em up for another round," a thought, if you please, in passing for those of us who never got in on the last one.

Soviets Restore Old Losses

By WALTER LIPPMANN

BY CONTRAST with Mr. X, it may be useful to call in another expert, a distinguished political geographer, Prof. Robert Strauz-Hupe of the University of Pennsylvania, whose article on "The Western Frontiers of Russia" appeared in the July issue of "The Review of Politics":

"The mosaic of treaties and agreements, which forms the legal basis of Russian territorial acquisitions, is composed of strangely assorted pieces. Its general, although somewhat crude, shape was first revealed by the Soviet-German secret protocol of Aug. 23, 1939. This document allocated Estonia and Latvia to the Soviet Union and established the demarcation line of the German-Soviet occupation of Poland. The additional protocol of Sept. 28 transferred Lithuania to the Soviet orbit and expressed German agreement to the cession by Romania of Bessarabia to the U.S.S.R. The latter transaction was consummated in the Soviet-Romanian agreement of June 26, 1940. The Soviet-Polish treaty of August, 1945, confirms, except for minor deviations, the arrangements agreed upon in the two Soviet-German protocols. The Romanian peace treaty of 1947 expressly reaffirms the validity of the Soviet-Romanian agreement of 1940.

The parties to these transactions represent the most diverse ideologies and allegiances, none of which the Soviet Union permitted to interfere with its pursuit of strategic objectives. Where its frontiers were concerned the Soviet Union managed to overlook the distinction between friend and foe.

"Considered as a whole, this strange patchwork of title deeds, bound together by the military might of the Soviet Union, annuls the defeat of 1917. It restores Russia to the geographical positions held by the last Romanovs. The Baltic republics and Bessarabia reverted—as, writing nearly 20 years ago, Isaiah Bowman predicted—to Russian domination; the territorial clauses of the peace treaty with Finland, outright cession of the Karelian isthmus to Petsamo Province, and lease of a naval base at Porkkala-Udd, reinstate Russia actually, although not formally, in her pre-1917 positions on the Baltic and Arctic coasts; and Russian magnanimity toward Poland is rewarded by valuable gains in East Prussia, Bukovina and the Carpathians. The total area acquired by Russia between 1945 and 1947 is approximately as large as the total area lost between 1917 and 1921.

"The western frontiers of the Soviet sphere of influence coincide so closely with those Czarist Russia planned to draw after the defeat of the central powers that Czarist and Soviet policies appear to differ as regards methods only.

"From inter-allied agreements concluded during World War I and the published statements of leading public figures, notably Russian and Czech, emerges the Czarist government's grand design for eastern Europe: The frontier of Russian Poland was to have been pushed westward toward Stettin, bringing within the Russian empire the Polish provinces of Germany and Austria; the northeastern provinces of Hungary were to be ceded to Russia and a greater Serbia and greater Romania were to receive additional territories carved from Hungary, leaving the latter country a small state wedged between Serbia (Yugoslavia), Romania and a kingdom of the Czechs ruled by a Russian prince; and Russia was to receive the European possessions of Turkey inclusive of the straits. The aggregate of annexed territories, protectorates, alliances and pan-Slav affiliations would have extended Russian influence to the Oder river, the Alps, the Adriatic and the Aegean. The Czarist project, cleaned of the dynastic and social preconceptions of czardom, took shape in the system of annexed territories, occupation zones, friendly regimes and ideological affiliations which constitutes the Soviet sphere of influence in Europe. It is only at the straits that the Soviet government failed to attain the goals set by its predecessors."

This explains, as Mr. X's analysis does not, the pattern and plan, not merely the generalized fact, of Soviet expansion.

The westward expansion of the Russian frontier and of the Russian sphere of influence, though always a Russian aim, was accomplished when, as, and because the Red army defeated the German army and advanced to the center of Europe. It was the mighty power of the Red army, not the ideology of Karl Marx, which enabled the Russian government to expand its frontiers. It is the pressure of that army far beyond the new frontiers which makes the will of the Kremlin irresistible within the Russian sphere of influence. It is the threat that the Red army may advance still farther west—into Italy, into western Germany, into Scandinavia—that gives the Kremlin and the native Communist parties of western Europe an abnormal and intolerable influence in the affairs of the European continent.

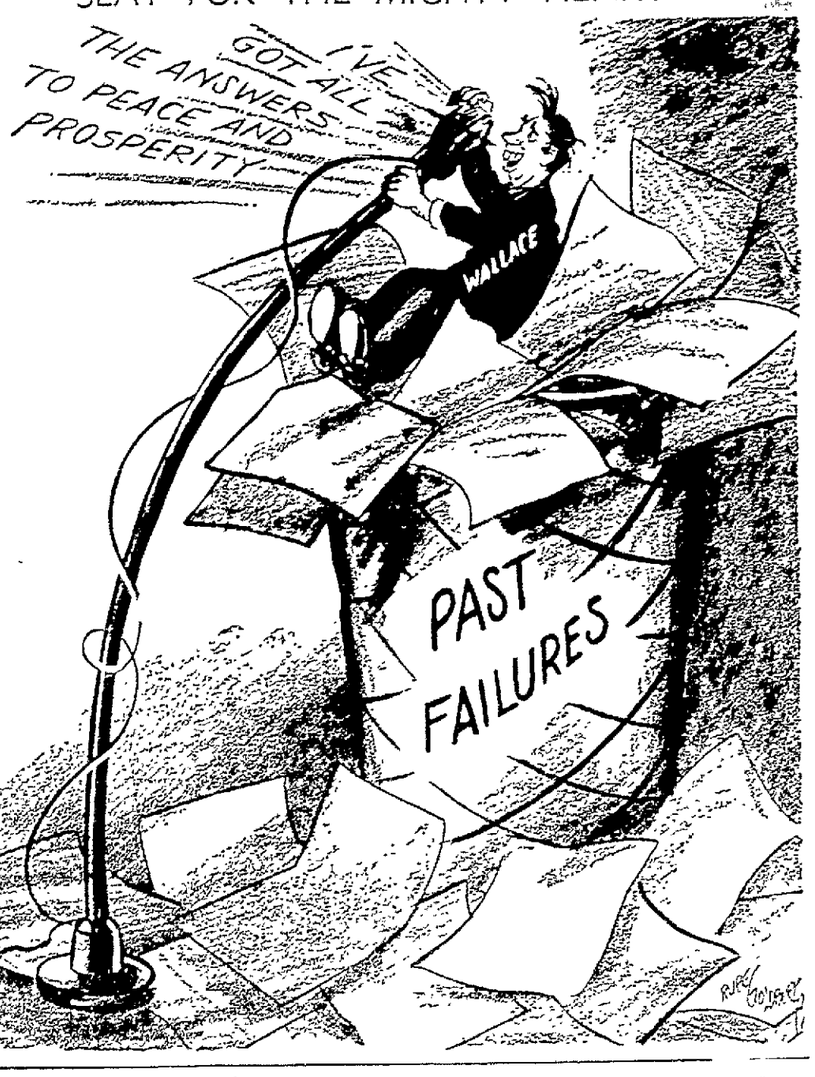

Therefore, the immediate and the decisive problem of our relations with the Soviet Union is whether, when, on what conditions, the Red army can be prevailed upon to evacuate Europe.

SEAT FOR THE MIGHTY HENRY

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, Sept. 16, 1937.

Assurance that a survey would be made of the Scioto and Sandusky rivers preparatory to a proposed flood control project was given in a dispatch from Washington, D. C. Officials stated that part of a $500,000 appropriation for flood control would be allocated to these rivers.

Cannibals mingled with Chinese ladies at the annual costume party held by the women of the Marion Country club. Costume awards were won by Mrs. Robert LaMarch, Mrs. K. M. Bower, Miss Emma O'Brien, Mrs. Carl Danner, Mrs. A. W. Dennis, Mrs. Fred Berg and Mrs. Douglas Felt.

Mrs. Grover C. Snyder was elected president of the Women's Division of the Marion County Democratic club.

County commissioners announced that the 9.7 stretch of county road extending from Newmans north to Big Island, had been taken over by the state highway department.

The faculty of Vernon Heights Junior High school and guests were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. J. Eugene Auld at their home on the St. James-Bellville road. Present were Principal R. A. Garvin, Mr. and Mrs. Alywyn H. Crane, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Brandon, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Cook, A. L. Auld, William Dowler, Mrs. Ferne West, Miss Mella Van Meter, Miss Una Ackley, Miss Monna Broillier, Miss Lela Brookshire, Miss Mary Lee Concklin, Miss Grace Colvin, Miss Margaret Watkins, Miss Mildred Wettauer and Miss Martha Hord.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Sept. 16, 1927.

D. R. Crissinger of Marion resigned as governor of the federal reserve board to enter private business.

Nathan E. Babcock of Nye street, former Marion policeman, was killed in a train accident while employed as an Erie railroad section hand.

Mayor and Mrs. Earl Hazen of Oak street and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Tobin of Sugar street returned from a 10 days' trip from Washington, D. C., Gettysburg, Pa. and other points in the east.

A drop in the temperature to 67 degrees during the night brought temporary relief in Marion from a belated heat wave which had gripped the mid-western states. During the day the mercury had reached 93½ degrees here, causing such discomforture in the schools that it was necessary to dismiss 40 minutes earlier than usual. The same action was taken at Kenton and Bucyrus.

The Delphian club gave a handkerchief shower at the home of Mrs. Carl J. Watrous on East Center street for Mrs. B. M. Sager who was to leave soon to reside in Dayton.

The seventy-seventh annual Marion county fair came to a close with the final day's attendance set at 6,000. Attendance for the four days was reported at 18,000.

The American Role in Italy

By JOSEPH ALSOP

ROME, Sept. 16 — The grave urgency of the economic crisis is the first and sharpest shock to the visitor to Rome. The time for action is very short. But when one has recovered from this first shock, a second follows This is the shock of learning the extraordinary importance, the far-reaching influence, of the American role in Italian internal politics.

No hasty traveler may venture to speak as an expert. Yet it is perhaps permissible to draw firm conclusions from the discovery of virtually complete unanimity among political leaders of every coloration. Ministers amid the moth-eaten grandeur of their palazzo offices, left-wingers in grim little walk-up apartments, centrists and churchmen, rightists, technicians and journalists—all have made the same point. Even the harassed, serious and high-minded Premier Alcide de Gasperi minced no words. Without hesitation, he stated that his government was "based on close links with the United States."

Premier de Gasperi spoke nothing but the truth. To be sure, this last and most important chapter in the story of the growth of the American role in Italy has the kind of comically accidental beginning that might be expected, in view of the strong trace of sleep walking that tinctures American policy making.

Early last winter, de Gasperi was invited to a rally of statesmen held in Cleveland by the Luce publications. The embassy here learned that de Gasperi was America-bound when he applied for a visa. Nevertheless, his trip to the United States was quickly given a semi-official flavor. While he was in Washington, William McChesney Martin and other Export-Import Bank directors were bludgeoned into making a hundred million dollar loan for Italian industrial reconstruction. And de Gasperi returned with his character as a pro-American leader strongly accentuated.

Based on Crisis

There came the crisis which led to the formation of the present de Gasperi government. The main issue was whether to continue the previous system of a government of all parties, including the Communists, or to establish a regime not subject to Communist sabotage. Point one on the Communist program was to remain in the government and continue to promote chaos.

It can now be stated on absolute authority that de Gasperi gained courage to form his government without the Communists from positive assurances of American support given to him by official representatives of our government. His parliamentary majority is slender and he has tried repeatedly and is still trying to broaden his governmental base by including non-Communist Left-wingers. Our representatives have continued to take the position, with unqualified frankness, that liberalization of the regime was extremely desirable, but that the United States could do little for an Italy with Communists in the cabinet.

In the present crisis, the highest members of the government have informed this correspondent without equivocation, that they can survive if we in the United States make good our promises of support. Equally, they have admitted that the government must fall if the dollar famine and resulting import famine are permitted to reduce Italy to a condition of cruel unemployment and widespread starvation. "We can not last if we can not give our people bread," is the leit motif.

Claims Settled

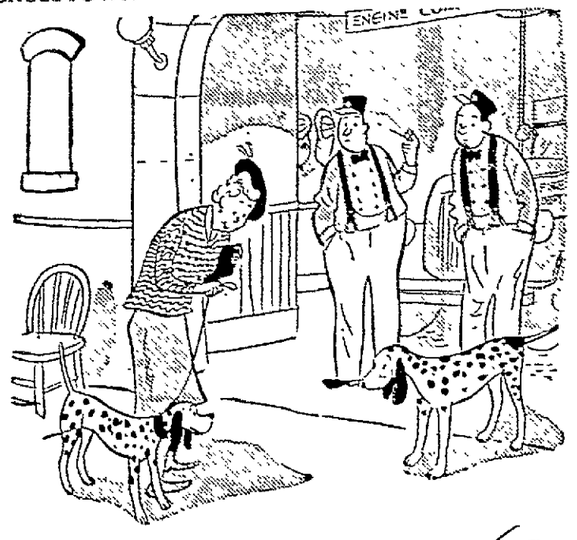

Nor does the American role end there. Ivan Matteo Lombardo, a leading Socialist of the main, Nenni wing of the party, recently negotiated in Washington the settlement of American war claims against Italy. He returned to an important movement for Socialist independence of the Communists. The movement is promising, but will admittedly come to nothing if want of dollars now plunges Italy into conditions of despair. Even the present sharp Communist offensive against the de Gasperi government (of which more later) is obviously motivated, at least in part, by a desire to strike before large-scale American aid stabilizes the Italian situation.

All this adds up to a staggeringly heavy responsibility for the makers of American policy. Clearly a congress dubiously ornamented by such fiddle-headed statesman as Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire can not be induced to take action overnight, even in the present emergency. But the certainty of an Italian ration cut at the end of October is conditional on the need to conserve some food for the Italian people through the winter.

If the Italian government receives firm enough assurance of future aid, it can expend its existing grain stocks immediately. The whole of the American $130 million grant in aid for Italy can also be poured out during the months directly ahead. Decent conditions can thus be maintained until January. This gamble, coupled with a special session of congress to provide additional funds to meet the European emergency, appears to be the only course open. Now that America is the leader, America must lead.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Elmer Twitchell Does Some By-passing

THOSE widespread refusals to obey the law, sign sworn statements that they are not Communists and have not belonged to subversive organizations have given Elmer Twitchell an idea about a big parcel of laws he isn't crazy over. "I'm going to defy 'em, by-pass 'em and circumvent 'em," he declared today. "I never thought this a good attitude toward the many passed laws of America, but I am never a man to ignore a trend."

* * *

Mr. Twitchell announced a boycott of the no-smoking ordinances, the laws against cruelty, the statues on wife beating and all laws on toleration of all kinds. "I shall by-pass 'em all," he thundered, breaking four knuckles as he pounded on a fire hydrant.

"Whether I beat my wife or not is nobody's business and any infringement on my freedom in this respect is a blow at my rights and at the Constitution of the U. S. To accept the law against wife beating would be to consent to the enslavement of all married men in America.

"I shall also circumvent the law against driving off in an auto without halting after running over a pedestrian. It is un-American to threaten the rights of autoists this way and encroach on their privileges as citizens. Are all the privileges which autoists have built up in years of struggle to be surrendered without a battle?

"The same goes for the regulations concerning parking, derailing a train, hunting ducks out of season, spitting in the subway and licensing a dog. Am I to be a weakling and submit to such things just because they are on the law books?" demanded Elmer at fever heat?

"However," he continued, "it is the tax laws which I intend to by-pass above all. I mean the gas tax, oil tax, sales tax, realty tax and income tax My ancestors staged a revolution in 1776 against taxes Am I to be enslaved by them now? Oppression, that's what it is. I am being exploited by the enemies of a free democracy."

Elmer declared he would refuse to sign his name, address and business on any papers whatever if the part of the tax laws requiring him to take an oath before a notary public was not repealed by congress

"To demand that I swear to my right name, address and business is a clear violation of the Bill of Rights, Magna Charta, the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and all the guarantees of freedom.

* * *

"Do you know what all these efforts to make Americans obey the laws of this country really are?" demanded Mr. Twitchell fiercely.

"No," we replied

"A Witch Hunt!" he declared, turning four back somersaults in his indignation

(Note: Mr. Twitchell will call a mass meeting soon to organize the C.O.T.A.L.D.A.—Committee Opposed To All Laws Displeasing Anybody.)

VANISHING AMERICANISMS

"Let's take a dime and see a good movie."

"That salesman was here again urging me to buy a new car."

"Cars Washed—$1.00."

"What do you care how your hair looks? You're a man."

"Don't talk to the motorman!"

"No women allowed."

It was Oscar Wilde who foresaw the next war away ahead of anybody. It was in the eighties that he quipped this one on the ultimate battle: "A chemist on each side will approach the frontier with a bottle."

Maybe we had better turn over Fort Knox to the British, at that, before we wake up some day and find somebody has won it as a prize on a radio quiz show.

Dr. Kurt Von Schuschnigg, once Chancellor of Austria and who lost all through compromising with Hitler, is in Austria. He says all he wants is to live a quiet life, perhaps in Brooklyn. It is our guess that he will just have to keep compromising.

Be Not Afraid

By TRUMAN TWILL

Friends of ours keep moving to the country—out of the high-tax district—and we keep telling them, as an old farm boy, not to be afraid. The perils and complications of rural life are imaginary, we point out. That old story about the town mouse and the country mouse, with the country mouse getting his revenge, is nonsense.

Only today we heard about a city-bred female who had never called a hog in her life discovering in her astonishment she had a hidden talent for hog-calling. This was a revelation to her. She now has a new feeling of confidence The country life forced on her by her husband may be bearable after all.

Our heroine, who never had been closer to a hog than the breakfast bacon, was sought out by a neighbor-woman in distress who needed help to get a trio of escaped porkers back into their pen. It was two women against three hogs, with the odds favoring the hogs, because one woman was nervous, the other ignorant.

But our heroine did not yield to nervousness She figured what she would do if she were a hog and someone wanted her to do something She wouldn't be pushed into it, that was certain. She'd have to be treated with decency and courtesy.

So she got into the pig pen, leaving the gate open and called in an affable manner, "Here piggy, piggy, piggy." To her astonishment the trio looked at her with sympathy and ambled into the pen. Nothing to it. She had won her first hog-calling contest without even raising her voice.

Almost nothing now can disconcert this pioneer woman who has escaped from the perils of town life to the simplicities of the farm. If the old man falls down the well, she will throw him a rope. If the cows come into the kitchen she'll milk them. She is confident and unafraid.

The country looks like a wonderful place, populated with animals anxious to oblige. Incidentally, to prove it was no accident that the hogs responded the first time, they got out again the next day. the neighbor-woman sent a kid running to get the "pig lady" and she repeated her success. The third day, presumably, someone fixed the pen.

The point cannot be made too firmly that there's nothing to be afraid of when entering upon existence in the country, especially for women. Many city women have hidden talents for hog-calling, spring-plowing, quilting, hoeing, spading, cutting ice, veterinary medicine egg-gathering etc. that never would be discovered if they lurked in town all their lives.

To many of them, the thought of taking up such pursuits is terrifying. They are afraid. But they shouldn't be afraid. They, too, may be Pied Pipers of Pigdom beneath their girlish exteriors. It all depends on whether or not they let themselves get nervous and unstrung.

OHIO WOMAN DIES OF ASSAULT INJURIES

By The Associated Press

MIDDLETOWN, O., Sept. 16—Injuries suffered two weeks ago when a paroled slayer allegedly assaulted her, proved fatal yesterday for Mrs. Edna Adkins, 34, of neighboring Franklin.

Mrs. Adkins died at Middletown hospital where her 10-year-old son, Paul, who also was assaulted, is under treatment.

Clifford Gayles, 34, a Negro, of Xenia, O., was named as Mrs. Adkins' assailant in a warrant signed several days ago by her father Howard Minges, charging assault to kill.

Another alleged victim of Gayles, Mrs. Guy Davidson, a Cleveland Negress, died last week after being shot at Xenia, Labor Day Eve, when she refused him permission to take her younger sister on an automobile trip.

Mrs. Adkins and her son were beaten after the automobile in which they were sitting was commandeered, near Franklin, following the Xenia shooting.

What the New National Guard means to you...

A Message from the President of the United States

WE OWE our existence as a nation to the tradition of service of our citizens. It was an army of citizen soldiers which George Washington led to victory in the American Revolution. At the end of that war, the first Congress asked General Washington to give his views on what the military policy of the new nation should be. This was his answer:

"... every citizen who enjoys the protection of a free government, owes not only a proportion of his property but even of his personal services to the defense of it."

Today the new National Guard gives every man an opportunity to give that personal service to his country and at the same time to advance himself. In National Guard units all over the country thousands of veterans and other ambitious young men are finding the opportunity to study and learn the things that help them advance in their civilian jobs. They are finding the fellowship that is part and parcel of America. They are participating in a sports and recreation program that keeps them fit. And they are receiving the training that helps keep America strong.

Because of the National Guard's importance to our national defense I have proclaimed September 16th as National Guard Day and have directed that a nationwide recruiting campaign be conducted to fill its ranks.

Harry Truman

You'll find the few hours each week that you spend with your local National Guard unit pleasant and profitable. Pay is based on new Army pay scale. Veterans can obtain the same rank held upon discharge. And now young men 17 years old may join the National Guard. For complete information about the National Guard in your community, contact officers of that unit or write the Adjutant General of your state.

Preceding the ceremony, a half-hour program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Helen Bakes, organist. Miss Ilene Mosher, soloist, sang "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of white satin fashioned with a tight fitting bodice trimmed with self covered buttons down the back, full length sleeves, and a peplum effect from the waistline which formed the train. Her veil of bridal illusion was trimmed with lace medallions and pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Lausche Continues To Be Coy About Comeback Try in 1948

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Sept. 16—Frank J. Lausche, bushy-haired former governor, was insistently coy today about a possible comeback try in 1948 as Democrats planned an organization meeting Friday to map their campaign in next year's election.

Democratic county chairmen and state committee members were invited to the Columbus meeting by Albert A. Horstman, Dayton, state party chairman, as part of a program to give the party a political stimulant.

Lausche recently said he had not decided what to do in reference to the governorship next year—but he planned a political talk with former Gov. James M Cox. Many members of the "brain trust" during Lausche's term are convinced he will run again.

One of the main topics of the meeting will be the Democratic gubernatorial nominee. There is little doubt in the Democratic camp that Lausche would capture the nomination if he decided to run.

Would Have No Choice

After a victory in the primary next May the state organization would have little choice but to accept the former governor as their only hope of regaining a position of importance in Ohio.

That state headquarters and Washington realize Lausche's vote catching power was illustrated when Rep. J. Kirwan, (D) of Youngstown, a Lausche foe, said "I have no doubt that I'd support him" if the former governor attempted a comeback.

Reports that Lausche's recent trip to Washington may serve as the first move of the independent governor to make peace with the party were generally inconsistent with his record in office.

On March 1, 1946, he wrote the Belmont county Democratic organization that he would not allow patronage and that all state employment would be "on the basis of merit through civil service." At the state convention later in the year he asked for party support but declared his office would remain independent.

Kirwan, who is to speak Friday before two organization sessions here, declared also that "it is possible to work out a united front in Ohio. But if it is going to be done at all now is the time to do it."

A large field of candidates for the Democratic nomination in the primary would split the vote and undoubtedly help Lausche even though he failed to receive the party's blessing. Several candidates have already taken out petitions or announced they would enter the race.

Other Candidates

These include Gabor Sutto Jr., Elyria; Robert Cox of Millersburg; David E. Nolan of Bellefontaine, and Joseph Torok of Youngstown.

Latest to be mentioned as the possible "regular" Democratic candidate is former Congressman Stephen M. Young, 58-year-old Cleveland attorney.

Young carried Cuyahoga and Summit counties in the 1946 primary election for U. S. senator although he lost to James W. Huffman, who was defeated by John W. Bricker in the general election. The two counties, however, are the leading centers in Ohio of Democratic strength.

Others mentioned for the nomination are Frazier Reams, former state welfare director from Toledo; former Lt. Gov. William G. Pickrel of Dayton, and Thomas Morrow of Cincinnati.

RADIO MEN TO CURB COMMERCIALS, CRIME

By The Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 16—The National Association of Broadcasters made public yesterday its proposed new standards of practice that would limit commercials and carefully define the handling of mystery and crime programs.

The code covers a broad field, including the treatment of such subjects as religion, marriage and the home, simulation of news, children's programs and types of advertising considered unacceptable. Its contents were disclosed by NAB officials one day in advance of the 25th annual convention of the organization.

The limitation on commercials would be divided into two divisions: One for daytime programs and one for night programs. The maximum commercial time allowed in any 15-minute broarcast period—including station breaks—would be three minutes. Five-minute programs, would be limited to one minute of commercials. For longer programs, the proposed limit on commercials ranges up to seven minutes for a one-hour daytime program and six minutes for a one-hour program after 6 p. m.

For children's programs, the proposed code outlines in detail some of the things considered objectionable. For instance, criminals should never be presented in a favorable light, references to kidnaping would be banned, and the code urges that no program end with an episode that would create harmful nervous reactions in a child.

Horse Foils Attempts By Police To Jail Him

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16—Deputy Sheriff Maurice Wesselman tried to jail a horse today but gave up when he couldn't crowd him into a cell.

The horse was taken to the nearby Silverton jail after being found standing in the road at the intersection of Kugler Mill and Kenwood roads.

When Deputy Wesselman found the animal too large to fit the cell he tied him outside the jail.

"Now he can cut the grass for the Silverton police force," he remarked.

The horse took to the idea and at last reports was eating himself into the good graces of the officers.

was read Sunday, Sept. 7, by Rev. A. O. Long, pastor of the Prospect Baptist church, at his home in Prospect. Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clements of Upper Sandusky. Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left for a trip to West Virginia. They are now residing for the present with the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles C. Messenger of 488 North Greenwood street are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Ruth, and William Richard Kirby, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Kirby of 322 Silver street. The wedding was an event of Friday and took place in the rectory of St. Mary Catholic church. The double ring ceremony was read at 9:30 a. m. by the Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, V.F., pastor of St. Mary church. Miss Mary Ellen Messenger, sister of the bride, was her attendant, and Joseph Kirby served as his brother's best man. The immediate families were present.

For the ceremony Miss Messenger chose a two piece white suit with matching accessories, and her corsage was a single orchid. The maid of honor was attired in white also, and her corsage was of pink and white carnations.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was given at the home of the bride's parents. In the evening, a reception was held at the Kirby home on Silver street, and moving pictures of the newly married couple and of the guests were taken.

The bride was graduated from Harding High school and is employed as a receptionist at the Universal Cooler Corp. Her husband attended St. Mary High school and was in service in the army. He is employed at the Quaker Oats Co. They plan to make their home on Oak street.

bat aviation which "we would have to rely on in case of trouble" is "in pretty fair shape."

But "the few airplanes we have today," he said, "are rapidly becoming obsolete and will have to be replaced during the next few years if we are to remain on top in the aviation race.

"* * * air power includes also a healthy and progressive aircraft industry to build our aeronautical equipment and develop and produce the replacements as fast as that equipment becomes obsolete. * * *

"Our aviation industry is sick, due to lack of orders, unless something is done soon a large part of that industry may have to shut up shop and we will really be in trouble."

Kenney concluded that the best defense measure in case of war "is the possession of a powerful long range striking force ready to go into action at a few hours notice to carry the war into the enemy country," explaining:

"No aggressor who has the capability of dropping, let us say, 1,000 tons of bombs on a single attack is going to attack us if he knows that we can drop 1,001 tons on him in return."

Jerusalem Hears Alarms As Nerve War Goes On

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, Sept. 16—Alarm sirens blared today for the third time since the beginning of the Jewish new year festival Rosh Hoshanah.

Unofficial sources said the alerts resulted from a new series of explosions in a "war of nerves" being carried on by the Jewish underground.

The informants said a new explosion was heard near the Jewish agency and a second at the northwestern outskirts of Jerusalem, eight explosions blasted the peace of the holiday in the city during the night. Police said they were unable to trace the source of the disturbances.

2,280 JAPS DIE IN TYPHOON

Army Estimates 100,000 Left Homeless; Survivors Work on Dikes.

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, Sept. 16 — Thousands of Japanese worked tonight erecting temporary dikes in an effort to stem floodwaters 20 miles north of Tokyo and unofficial estimates placed the number of dead and missing at 2,280.

Earlier incomplete American military government reports said the floodwaters, rising on the broad plain north of Tokyo in the wake of a typhoon, left nearly 1,700 Japanese dead or missing and damaged some 100,000 houses.

Japanese newspapers said residents of Kasukabe were working feverishly on temporary dikes against advancing waters of two rivers which had ripped through their banks. The reports added that failure to halt the flood at Kasukabe would expose the eastern section of Tokyo to the onrush of water, described as three feet high in some places.

Storm damage was reported from 15 prefectures stretching over 500 miles across two-thirds on Honshu island—from Mie prefecture southwest of Nagoya to Akita on the extreme northwestern coast. Damage of homes, crops, bridges, railroad and highways was expected to total several hundred million yen (at the official rate 59 yen equal $1.) Two medium-sized towns were wiped out and many villages flooded as the Tone and Arakawa rivers spilled out onto the flatlands.

The military government reported 150 dead in Gumma prefecture and 86 dead in Tochigi prefecture, to the west. The number of missing was placed at 1,402.

160,000 on Relief

In one prefecture alone, 160,000 Japanese were on relief. Thousands more elsewhere took refuge from rampaging river waters on housetops, levees and hills.

No allied casualties were reported.

The typhoon struck last night, its center 30 miles southeast of downtown Tokyo. It was dissipating its force out to sea today after bringing violent rains that disrupted power distribution and burst many river levees.

YANKS REPEL SLAVS AT TRIESTE BORDER

By The Associated Press

TRIESTE, Sept. 16 — A military government headquarters said today that American troops manning an outpost on the provisional frontier between Yugoslavia and the new free state of Trieste brought up a tank and fired a warning burst of machinegun fire to discourage a Yugoslav attempt to cross the line this morning.

"It was touch and go at that outpost for a while," commented a high AMG officer. He credited the "highly disciplined" American troops with having conducted themselves in such a manner as to permit the incident to end without serious consequences.

Both the American and Yugoslav officers at the post said they would consult with higher authorities. The Yugoslavs dropped back a few feet from the line.

Grand Circuit Racing at Delaware Opens With Del Cameron Driving 3 Winners

By The Associated Press

DELAWARE, O., Sept. 16—Grand circuit racing got under way at the Delaware county fair yesterday with 27-year-old Del Cameron driving winners in three of the four scheduled races.

Cameron, who drives for the Newport stock farm of South Plainfield, N. J., won the class 15 trot with Axomite, staving off bids by Volarian in both heats of that event.

Then he won the 20 class trot stake with Butler, chased by Grand Parade in both heats.

Cameron had a tough time, however, winning the Almahurst 25 class pace with Alemite. He finished seventh in the first two heats and then came home in front in the third by a comfortable margin. The Diplomat had won the first and War Master took the second heat, paying the largest mutuel price of the day $341.20 for $2.

Alemite won the race-off, nosing out War Master by a scant margin.

Clayton Cox won the 27 class pace stake with Linda B.

Tommy Phillips Quits O.S.U. and Grid Squad

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16 — Tommy Phillips, quarterback passing star, was lost to the Ohio State university football squad today by resignation as injuries continued to beset the Bucks, drilling hard for the Sept. 27 opener with Missouri.

Phillips handed in his uniform yesterday, announcing he would try his fortunes at a smaller school, Baldwin-Wallace college at Berea, O.

Coach Wes Fesler said Phillips told him he had no complaints over his progress on the O.S.U. squad—he was a fifth stringer when he quit—but was generally unhappy over life here; especially since he had been unable to find living quarters for himself and his wife.

Make Sweep Over Lima Club; Attendance Nears 80,000

By DON C. BURTON

The Lima Terriers failed to win a game at Lincoln park this year with the Cubs as they lost the final game here last night, 13-3. The score was almost identical with the game when it was postponed here Labor day with the Cubs leading, 13-2, in the fourth inning when rain forced postponement. The game last night was a playoff of that contest.

The crowd of 595 chilled fans who saw the game ran the season's paid attendance here to approximately 80,000 in less than 60 playing days, a new Marion record. The attendance last year was less than 75,000.

Ed Witowski became the fifth Marion pitcher to win 10 or more games this season. He allowed the Terriers 11 hits but they were scattered well and he walked only two men. His opponent, Jerry Kowalski, the converted third baseman who has been extremely tough for the Cubs to hit, although they have beaten him several times, failed to be the puzzle he had been before as the Cubs touched him for 13 hits.

Three of the hits were by Mel Nelson, including two doubles. Gene Bobrean and Jim Forbes batted in three runs each. The three for Bobzean gave him a total of nine in two nights.

The Cubs go to Dayton tonight and will finish the season with the Indians tomorrow night and move to Springfield for five games with the Giants including a Sunday doubleheader.

Unless the Cubs fall apart and drop to third place behind the Muncie Packers they will start the playoffs here Monday night with the Packers as opponents. Should they drop to third then the series will start in Muncie.

Harold Dillion was the big boy of the win, getting a home run and two other hits in four times at bat.

Schlairet is also in line for the city softball crown, awarded to the winner of the annual Little World Series. They and Moose are in a play-off for the Commercial league softball crown.

Smitty's All-Stars continuing in independent play entertain Boldrige Tires of Upper Sandusky at Crystal Lake tomorrow night at 9 p. m.

RED BOOK DODGERS

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16—Cincinnati's fifth place Reds make their final appearance today as a principal in the National league pennant race when they meet the stretch-driving Brooklyn Dodgers in a single game.

GRID SQUAD QUARANTINED

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 16—Coach Beattie Feathers said today his North Carolina State football squad would continue its regular practice routine although quarantined for infantile paralysis until Sept. 26.

Yankees Clinch American Loop Flag; Bums May Grab NL Pennant This Week

By The Associated Press

The New York Yankees received congratulations today for winning their 15th flag in the last 27 years, a feat accomplished by no other team. The assurance of mathematical certainty came when the Chicago White Sox defeated the Boston Red Sox, 6-3, in the first game of a doubleheader.

The Brooklyn Dodgers' clinching date in the National league should come before the end of the week. Leading the fast fading St. Louis Cardinals by seven and a half games, the Brooks need only any combination of six victories or Redbird defeats to earn the right to face the Yankees in the World Series. Early afternoon rains made it impossible for the Yanks to play their scheduled game against the St. Louis Browns.

After losing the opener, the Red Sox came back to trip the White Sox, 7-5, in the second game of the doubleheader. Dom DiMaggio's two-run homer in the seventh proved the deciding blow.

The Tigers increased their second place lead over the Red Sox to a full game when they whipped the Senators, 7-2, in a night game in Washington, the sixth straight loss for the Senators.

The Cards lost another half game to the Dodgers when they were beaten for the second straight time by the New York Giants in St. Louis, 10-5. Billy Rigney, with two doubles, two singles and a triple in five times at bat, led the Giants' 12-hit attack on five St. Louis pitchers. Walker Cooper chipped in with his 32nd homer for the Giants.

Lefty Bob Chipman bested Johnny Sain in a hurling duel as the Chicago Cubs nipped the Boston Braves, 3-2.

With Hank Greenberg hitting his 25th home run, the Pittsburgh Pirates rapped the Philadelphia Phils, 12-2, to move out of the National league cellar. The Phils moved in. Ralph Kiner went homerless.

George Metkovich's triple off the right field wall and Lou Boudreau's single gave Bob Lemon and the Cleveland Indians an 11-inning 3-1 victory over the Athletics in a night game in Philadelphia.

The Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds were idle.

The superstition that a broken mirror brings bad luck came from the fact that a shadow or reflection once was considered part of the soul.

Harding Schedules Columbus South For Friday Night Game

Columbus South, Harding opponent Friday night at Harding stadium is seen as no push over by Coach Pete Howison.

South, like Harding opened its season in defeat bowing to Upper Arlington, 13-12, Saturday night. Coach Howison, who personally scouted the game, reports that South was playing a team, much improved over the squad setback, 48-6 by the Chief Executives in a practice game. Arlington used five starters, not present for the scrimmage, according to Pete.

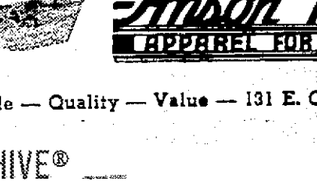

Still, it appears that Harding should rate a slight edge in pregame forecasts. South has only six lettermen back from last year, whereas the Prexies have 12. Lettermen of both squads got their experience with losing teams. South's record last year was no wins against nine losses.

Unless a draw occurs, one of the teams engaged in Friday night's tilt will win its first game in two seasons.

Coach Howison plans to concentrate on defense in this week's scrimmages. He was fairly pleased with last week's offensive play, believing that with the first game jitters past, his backs will hold the pigskin when they get into enemy territory.

RAIL MERGER PLEA ADVANCED

C. and O. Executive Says Union with N.Y.C. Would Restore Public Confidence.

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—A Cnesapeake and Ohio railway executive told the interstate commerce commission today that an alliance between the C. and O and the New York Central railroad would restore public faith in the future of railroads.

W. H. Wenneman, C. and O. vice president, made the statement during testimony at ICC hearings on a petition by the C. and O. that it be permitted to acquire a voting interest and two seats on the board of directors of the New York Central.

Wenneman declared the C. and O. NYC alliance would make possible the development of "an "aggressive combination" to complete with other lines and "appears to be the most feasible means of improving NYC's earning power and credit standing . . ."

The New York Central's financial recovery, he added, "will do a great deal to create that kind of faith in the future of railroads, which is so necessary to attract capital for large-scale modernization and development of new methods and services."

Wenneman noted that the New York Central, once regarded as one of the nation's finest railroad systems, had lost ground "largely owing to failure to maintain its competitive position."

He asserted that the C. and O if the alliance is approved, anticipated increased earnings which could be user to improve the New York's Central's credit position through amplication of its financial structure and reductions in fixed charges.

Wenneman said the New York Central's burden of fixed charges could be reduced over a period of time not only by shrinking the debt total, but also by refunding into new low-rate sinking fund bonds some of the outstanding high-interest rate bonds.

Meat and Milk Prices Given Another Increase

By The Associated Press

New increases in the retail cost of meat and milk were reported today as public discussion of the significance of high food prices ranged from optimism over increased production to a prediction of an economic recession.

Prices of meat in Philadelphia butcher shops were reported to have increased three to 10 cents a pound yesterday, with choice sirloin steak selling in some neighborhood stores at $1 to $1.10 a pound.

Meanwhile officials of two prisons in Philadelphia said that inmates must do without meat three days a week because funds on hand were insufficient to meet current food prices.

A two-cent increase in the price of milk — from 17 to 19 cents — became effective today in Pendleton, Ore., and customers of two major St. Louis dairies began paying an additional cent a quart, with rises for grade A milk to 21½ cents and to 22½ for homogenized milk.

The price of eggs rose two cents in Portland, Ore., and the Oregon milk board scheduled hearings later this month on proposals for a general milk hike of two to three cents a quart over the prevailing 17-cent price.

GABLER REPORTS LIONS' CONVENTION

Delegate Discusses Meeting in San Francisco.

Cecil Gabler, member of the Lions' club was speaker for the weekly luncheon-meeting at Hotel Harding Monday.

He gave a detailed report on his recent trip to the Lions' International convention held at San Francisco. In giving his description Mr. Gabler used the letters of the club name as the guide for his talk. For "L", he told of some of the laughable events occurring both on the trip and at the session, "I" was the description of the international club relations, "O" brought a discussion of organization activities, "N" was a description of never-to-be-forgotten sights and "S" brought some situations out of the ordinary into the light.

A report of the last board of directors meeting held Sept. 8 was given by Robert Scott. Chairman of the sight conservation committee reported the purchase of glasses for a Marion girl and also the report that the club helped defray expenses during the extended illness of a Marion man. Ben T Wiant Jr. reported on the approaching attendance contest which will be held Sept. 22-Nov. 3.

Guests included Raymond Ring of Chicago, Ill., Ivan Barnhart, assistant superintendent of Marion county schools, and Charles Gerber, both of Marion. Three members resigned from the local club. They were George Reynolds, who is leaving to live in Illinois, T. E Brownlee, who plans to move to California and Hobart Lawson who was forced to drop out because of increasing business activities. Thomas Clark of Medina was transferred to the Marion club He will be associated with his father at the Clark Metal Products.

Two Fires Driven To Central Station

City firemen had two fires delivered to their door Monday. They had to make a run to the scene of another.

C. E. McCoy of 638 Windsor drove to central station on South Prospect street at 4:33 p. m. with the floor mat of his car burning. The fire was extinguished. It caused an estimated $10 loss The fire was caused by a cigaret.

Later in the day, at 10:20 p. m., Earl Klingel of 274 Windsor street drove to Central station so that firemen could extinguish tire burning in a seat cushion of his automobile. Loss was estimated at $40. Once again the blaze was caused by a cigaret.

At 9 20 p. m Monday the department received a report of a fire at the apartment of Mary Fuller of 415 North Prospect street. A man, who had supposedly turned in the alarm, drove to the station to inquire why the department had not answered the call. Investigation revealed that he had not operated the alarm box correctly. Firemen arrived at the scene in time to complete the job of quelling the flames, caused by an electric hot plate. It set fire to curtains in the apartment. Loss was approximately $20.

TAFT ZEROED IN AS OFL TARGET FOR '48

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept 16—U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) has been given prime attention at the Ohio State Federation of Labor convention here, with prediction of his defeat "whenever he comes up for election."

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, made the prediction yesterday as he declared "a holy war for the preservation of the rights of labor and the common man."

Urging unionists to vote against the "authors and supporters of this new slave law," Green said it "that reactionary gang that passed the Taft-Hartley law is sent back to congress they will pass even worse laws against labor."

The AFL must establish an organization that will reach into every precinct in the country, Green said, and promised concrete plans for this purpose would be adopted at the AFL national convention in San Francisco, Oct 6.

Green said the Taft-Hartley law was "unenforceable and unworkable," and, of its ban on closed shops, declared: "No law and no power ever will be able to make a union man work with a non-union man."

He predicted the act would be repealed in 1948 and added its defeat would accompany a defeat of a majority of the legislators who voted for it.

Phil Hannah, secretary-treasurer of the state federation, who recently announced his resignation as assistant secretary of labor, was scheduled to speak at the convention today.

Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Watt were named general chairmen of committees formerly appointed to arrange for a visit from Mrs. Gladys Stiles of Springfield. METAL THAT SEETHES AND BUBBLES FOUND

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 — A strange new metal that seethes and bubbles and emits a soft glow was described for the first time today to the American Chemical society.

This metal is curium, element 96, the heaviest known element. It is man-made, it no longer exists in nature, and is the most violently radioactive solid ever isolated.

Prof. Isadore Perlman of the University of California department of chemistry and radiation laboratory announced that a tiny amount of curium, smaller than a grain of sand, had been produced for the first time in pure form. There is just enough to see it with the naked eye. And this sand-grain amount now represents the total world supply of it.

Curium is one of four man-made metals discovered during the atom bomb project. The others are plutonium, the super explosive for atom bombs; americium and neptunium.

No uses are yet foreseen for curium, partly because of the terrific difficulty of making it in any quantity, Dr. Perlman said.

ESCAPES IN CRASH

Charles L. Rogers, 20, of 585 South Prospect street was uninjured when the car he was driving on route 30 south about three miles east of Marion crashed into a tree, at 2:15 a. m. Monday morning, state patrolmen reported today. The car was demolished after crashing into the tree then overturning in the ditch. It was removed by the Scioto Trail wrecker.

1,000 HINDUS KILLED IN ATTACK ON TRAIN

By The Associated Press

NEW DELHI, Sept. 16—Reliable reports said today that Moslem mobs had attacked a 40-mile-long Hindu refugee convoy and killed or wounded about 1,000 Hindus. Most of them were reported killed.

The convoy, bound from the west Punjab to the east, or Indian Punjab, was escorted by a few troops. They fired on the mobs and hit some members, but the number of Moslem casualties was not reported.

A Moslem convoy 30 miles long left India for the west Punjab under the escort of troops and tanks.

Violence flared up in Bombay yesterday, and 34 persons were stabbed to death. Three were wounded seriously by a bomb. Police rushed strong reinforcements to dangerous areas.

Police in Bombay, which is Moslem, took precautions against trouble 10 days ago when Sikh refugees began to stream in. The Moslems do not like Sikhs any better than Hindus.

YOUTH PLEADS INNOCENT TO SLAYING OF PAL, 11

Stands Sullen and Silent Before Judge.

(Pictures on Page 2)

By The Associated Press

HARRISON, N. J., Sept. 16—Fred Walter Smigelski, 14, stood motionless before the court today while his counsel entered a formal plea of innocent to a murder charge in the kick-strangling of the boy's 11-year old pal.

Smigelski, still sullen and unemotional, stared straight ahead as his newly-acquired counsel, Anthony Calandri, argued that the schoolboy's case was not within the jurisdiction of the state criminal courts because of his juvenile status.

Assistant Hudson County Prosecutor John Grossi cited the 1936 Jerry May murder case in which the state courts held that capital crimes can be taken out of juvenile court when the defendant is within the "age of reason."

Police Magistrate Joseph Gallagher upheld the states contention At that point Calandri said the boy pleaded "not guilty" and asked for an adjournment until Friday morning so he might be able to become better acquainted with the case. Gross acquiesced and the hearing was adjourned by Magistrate Gallagher.

STOCK MART EDGES INTO HIGHER GROUND

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—The stock market edged cautiously into higher ground today although price changes of as much as a point were rare.

Industrial favorites, joined by a few rails, negotiated narrow advances. The pace of dealings lifted slightly above Monday's crawl but showed no runaway tendency.

Lack of speed on recent declines, some brokers said, encouraged those customers looking for the market to engage in a technical comeback.

Stocks moving ahead included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Gotham Hosiery (on a lifted dividend declaration) Pittston Co. (at a new 1947 high). Cooper-Bessemer (also a new high), Schenley, American Woolen, American Smelting, Air Reduction, Southern Railway, Baltimore and Ohio, Oliver Corp. and Boeing Aircraft. Slipping at times were Great Northern preferred Westinghouse Electric, American Can, J. C. Penney and Kennecott.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"DO I Mind?" Mary repeated with incredulous emphasis. "What a question to ask me! What kind of heel do you think I'd be if I objected to anything in the world you wanted to ask me, or ask of me? Remember, you've just saved my life, my reason, and my hopes of happiness!"

"Don't be silly!" I adjured her, a bit testily. "You owe me nothing. But if you think you do, I'll take advantage of it. What I want of you is a little bland ignorance if Noel should put certain questions to you."

Mary flashed one of her gamin grins at me.

"'Bland ignorance!'" she repeated. "Those sound like dollar-and-a-quarter words, if not more! And if they mean what I think they do, I'm the girl for your money. I can put enough 'bland ignorance' into my face and eyes and voice to fill seventeen trunks and a suitcase or two besides!"

"You won't need that much," I told her, laughing, as I invariably do, at Mary's nonsense. "I just want you to disclaim any remembrance that you and I have discussed anything concerning this question between you and Noel. Tell him you studied your lines today, if you think best. If he still cherishes his fancied objections to your work tomorrow, explain being with me by my request that you give me some advice about my play and suiting it to the actress who will take the role."

Clenched Her Hands

I saw Mary clench her fingers into her palms as she said explosively: "I'd like to see anybody—" Then stopped abruptly, and looked at me shamefacedly.

"Please forget that, Auntie Madge."

"It's already forgotten," I told her comfortably—and falsely—for I knew I always would remember that involuntary betrayal of resentment at the idea of anyone else taking the exalted place she had won in her profession.

"You're mighty sweet," she said, "and am I fortunate to have you at my back! And you can be shouting sure what I say to my darling husband about us will be 'Yea, yea, and Nay, nay—isn't that the Biblical injunction?"

"I believe it is," I said absently, and she flashed a sudden sharp look at me.

"You're cooking up something," she said sapiently. "But I'm not going to ask you a single question. It wouldn't do me a bit of good if I did, anyhow!"

"No, it wouldn't," I agreed, "so suppose we take up our study."

"That's the thing I want 'mostest and fustest,'" she said, holding out her hand for the manuscript in mine. "I suppose, first, I'd better get at those three lines I muffed the other day."

"No," I said emphatically. "You must not look at those lines or think of them until after you have mastered a number of the others."

She looked at me in astonishment.

"Why not?" she queried. "Oh, of course I'd abide by your decision, but I'm curious."

"Because," I explained, "you made a mistake in those lines, and that mistake is graven in your memory. If you studied them now, five to one you'd make the same mistake again, and that would discourage you. But I think you can safely attempt the first two lines you learned and recited to me."

"They're etched on my heart," she said, with her usual extravagance, and promptly recited them correctly.

"How'm I doin'?" she asked when she had finished.

"You're letter-perfect," I told her. "We'll get our teeth into this thing now."

We worked steadily for the next hour and a half, and I was rejoiced to see that while Mary stumbled occasionally, made a mistake or two, and was not as "quick on the uptake"—as Dicky would put it—as she was before her illness, yet she showed rare form and, what was better, constant improvement from the first line I gave her to the last.

When the hands reached two-fifteen, I gave her a searching look.

Remarkable Progress

"Mary," I said, "will you believe me when I tell you that you have made remarkable progress today?"

She looked at me steadily.

"I know you wouldn't lie to me," she said, "but it seems to me as if I'd been an awful dope."

"You haven't been as fast and as accurate as you were a year ago," I said. "You wouldn't be human if you were. But you'll be back in your usual form before another week. I feel safe in promising you that."

"Will you let me try now those three lines I got wrong before?" she asked quickly.
